

Teacher Answer Key

Page 1

Numbers are eleven through twenty. The -teen pattern applies to thirteen through nineteen, with spelling changes.

Page 2

twelve, thirteen, fifteen, eighteen, twenty, eleven. Complete: fourteen, sixteen, seventeen, nineteen, twenty.

Page 3

are, is, are, is, are, is.

Page 4

There are fifteen books in the room. There are eleven books in the room. There are not fifteen pens on the desk. Are there eleven windows? books, pens, windows.

Teacher Answer Key

Page 1

thirteen; sixteen; nineteen. Dictation answers depend on teacher choices.

Page 2

A, A, A, A. Correction: Yes, there are.

Page 3

Are there fifteen books? Are there eleven windows? Are there twenty pens? Are there thirteen tables? Are there sixteen pencils? Reorder answers follow the same pattern.

Page 4

Yes, there are. No, there are not. Yes, there are. No, there are not. A, A.

Teacher Answer Key

Page 1

is, are, is, are, is, are. Rule: is; are.

Page 2

Add not after are for all four. Meaning: There are not fifteen books. There are twenty pens. There are not twelve windows.

Page 3

There are not fifteen books. Are there fifteen books? There are eleven windows. There are twenty pens. Are there thirteen tables? There are not twelve pencils.

Page 4

There are fifteen books. There is one window. Are there eleven windows? There are not fifteen books. Are there twenty pens? Yes, there are.

Teacher Answer Key

Page 1

are/thirteen; are/fifteen; are/eighteen; are/twenty; are/eleven; are/nineteen.

Page 2

There are fifteen books. Are there eleven windows? There are not twenty pens. Are there twelve tables?
There are sixteen pencils. Are there nineteen rulers?

Page 3

A, A, A, A. Original examples vary.

Page 4

There are fifteen books. Is there one window? There are twenty pens. Yes, there are. Dialogue: Are/are/Is/is.
Final writing varies.